

---

Photo Gallery

Here I am to the left, in my best radio outfit, being interviewed again for Parenting Today by my friend and colleague Sue Ng, to the right. Singapore radio's talk station. Below on the right I'm with Bob Annoni, who happened to be doing some training in Singapore at the same time. Bob's one of our New Orleans NLP Practitioners. Below left is the Café Du Monde, as it came back to life ... for those of you who really do miss New Orleans.

I like these two shots below of Victoria Harbor (Hong Kong). One lit up at night for Chinese New Year, earlier this year, and the same view through the fog the next morning. You can't see the motion, but the buildings are animated with moving cartoons commemorating the year of the Dog. Almost an electronic Mardi Gras Parade.

